Steamer Taking Welles Across Ocean Delayed For Search By British

LONDON, March 23—Britain today officially admitted British contraband control authorities held the Italian liner Conte Di Savoia at Gibraltar for 13 hours while they searched the ship from stem-to-stern for "certain persons travelling under false passports."

Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles was aboard the ship, anxious to reach American shores as quickly as possible in order to hand over his diplomatic findings to President Roosevelt.

A report that the British suspected the presence of a high German government official on the vessel—possibly former Reichsbank President Hjalmar Schacht—was not immediately confirmed.

A government spokesman refused to divulge whether Schacht was implicated and declared that he had no information as to whether anyone was taken from the liner before it was released for the trans-Atlantic voyage.

Drive To Halt Nazi Ore Supply Hinted

LONDON, March 23—A daring British naval drive to cut the flow of Swedish iron ore to German ports may be imminent, it was believed today, following disclosure that a British submarine "wriggled" its way close to the Baltic and sank a Nazi ore ship.

Torpedoed by the British U-boat, the German merchantman thereby became the first of the Reich's vessels to be sent down by a British submarine attack. The ship was the 4,974-ton Hedderheim, the admiralty announced.

The opening Allied blow against German shipping between the ore-loading port of Narvik, Norway, and German ports was hailed in England as one of the most daring exploits of the war.

After picking a way through heavily mined waters into the Skagerrak off Denmark's northern coast, intercepting the ship and sinking it, the British U-boat turned back safely toward the North Sea and escape from possible destruction by lurking German warships.

60 German Sailors Interned In Britain

LONDON, March 23—Britain played host today to 60 more German prisoners of war, all of them seamen of the 7,414-ton passenger ship La Coruna. The Nazi vessel was scuttled to prevent capture, but British warships rescued the crew members and brought them to a Scottish port.

Icicles May Prevail On Milady's Easter Bonnet Unless Weather Changes

.... "In your Easter bonnet
You'll find icicles on it,
And be the coldest lady"....

This revised phrase from a popular Easter season tune may be the theme song of Circleville's Easter celebration scheduled for Sunday, as the weather man continues to predict cold weather. He softens his stern prediction a trifle by declaring that the sun will probably shine.

Regardless of the temperature and the possibility that fur coats may hide many of the season's fineries, Circleville is ready to participate in the Easter event.

Churches of the community are planning elaborate programs (details appear on Page 3). Sunrise rites, cantatas, special sermons, pantomimes, etc., have been arranged for presentation during the day, regarded by most persons as the year's outstanding church event.

Saturday brought the lowest temperature readings in many weeks, and the farther the day progressed the more convinced folk became that Easter really would be frigid. The government thermometer registered a low reading of 16 degrees at 7 a. m. Saturday after being only as high as 38 Friday. Had Easter been observed last Sunday the weather would have been more nearly appropriate, because that day brought readings of 70 high and 58 low. No day this week has brought a high temperature that could even touch last Sunday's low mark.

"Nothing in particular occurred on the Western Front," Berlin reported.

The air force carried out numerous reconnoitering flights over France despite heavy pursuit and anti-aircraft activities.

"In connection with some enemy reconnoitering flights near the border zone, one British plane was shot down by a Messerschmitt near Cleve."

(Amsterdam dispatches said a British plane was shot down just inside the Netherlands frontier, plummeting into an inundated defense zone.)

(Hundreds of Netherlands citizens saw the British plane attacked by three German planes over German territory. Two of the Nazi aircraft formed a smoke screen while the third attacked the Briton with heavy aerial guns. The British flyers were killed in the crash.)

WEEK OF DIGGING NEEDED TO FIND ALL MINE DEAD

NEFFS, March 23—A week or more of digging and sifting through tons of rock and debris remains before the last of the bodies of 72 miners, killed in the Willow Grove mine blast last Saturday, will be taken from the pit, a mine official said today. Twenty-seven men were still entombed.

Although weary rescue crews continued their unrelenting efforts, not a single body was recovered during the night. Forty-two victims have been taken from the pit since the unexplained blast. Three more men who rushed into the mine immediately after the blast in a rescue attempt, were fatally gassed.

Meanwhile, mine officials heartily denied the charge of John Owens, president of District Six, United Mine Workers, that the explosion would not have occurred if the workings had been properly rock-dusted.

Owens, who made the charge while testifying before a congressional investigating committee, said that all mines would remain "reservoirs breeding death" until "basic mining necessities" were adopted universally.

The committee is endeavoring to gather information to be used in considering legislation requiring that all mines be federally inspected annually.

Al has talked little about his life in prison and apparently has accepted the penalty philosophically, his brother said. The long automobile ride from Baltimore where he had been hospitalized to Miami had considerably weakened him, Dr. Phillips said, and Capone will remain in Miami for an extended rest.

William Gannon, an employee of the Pickaway Dairy Company, was having trouble with his car at 6 o'clock Saturday morning as he was driving to work. So he parked the car on the Hargus Creek bridge, North Court Street. The fire department received a call at 6:15 to extinguish a blaze on North Court. Gannon's car caught fire after he had left it there to get to work on time. The car was badly burned, but was completely covered by insurance.

Yohe shot and killed Mrs. Strong in her home at Painesville yesterday and then turned the gun on himself. The bodies were found by the woman's stepson, Paul Strong, 11, who ran to the plant where his father was employed to tell of the tragedy.

Powell said that Yohe left a

F. D. Knew Of Cromwell's Speech Before Delivery

NEW YORK, March 23—A copy of James H. R. Cromwell's pro- Allies speech which brought congressional demands for his recall as U. S. minister to Canada and an unprecedented public rebuke from Secretary of State Hull was in President Roosevelt's hands two days before it was delivered in Toronto last Tuesday, the Daily Mirror said today in a copyrighted story.

From a close friend of Cromwell, the Mirror said it was learned that the young minister "spoke in the confidence of an envoy with tacit approval of his chief" because "the whole text of his remarks had been at the White House since last Sunday."

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Secretary Hull disclaimed any advance knowledge of the speech until he received an official copy last Thursday following which he chastised Cromwell.)

Although some quarters foresaw Cromwell's resignation as a result of the incident, the Mirror declared such was not the case.

"The Mirror's informant said Cromwell will not resign as a result of Hull's reprimand," the story continued.

"He has nothing to regret in what he said—in fact, is proud of it all. His only regret is in hurting Hull's feelings. He was said to have observed: 'I feel like a freshman who has hurt a venerable old dear!'"

(EDITOR'S NOTE: At the Cromwell home in Somerville, a representative of the envoy said he has no intention of resigning. At Cromwell's New York office it was stated there was no basis for any reports of his resignation.)

Relatives did not attach any particular significance to his disappearance as he was accustomed to taking long journeys on foot to homes of friends in neighboring counties.

Sheriff Farbeann asked Saturday that any person who might have any information concerning Mr. Reichley's whereabouts get in touch with him at Logan.

Showing himself to be the "man-of-action" demanded by the French to carry on a more intensive war effort, Reynaud arrived at the meeting first of all his ministers. He was followed by General Gustav Gamelin, Anglo-French military chieftain, and former Premier Daladier, who now holds the post of war minister.

Deliberations began shortly after 5 a. m. (Circleville time) and continued well past noon, an indication that the cabinet was determined not to waste time in mapping out future French military policy.

Although the Chamber of Deputies last night gave the Reynaud government a majority of only one vote, the cabinet decided to carry on at least until Parliament returns from its Easter vacation April 2.

Until this morning it was generally believed the Reynaud cabinet might not survive after that date, but a severe reaction against the

French Newspapers Rally To Support Reynaud After Narrow Vote

WAR ADVISERS CALLED

Increasing Need Claimed For Show Of Strength; Three Weeks Vital

By International News Service While the approach of Easter seemed to lull actual military hostilities, the war on the diplomatic front was intensified in Europe today with particular reference to the Balkans.

A German trade delegation, led by the astute Dr. Carl Clodius, grappled with the Rumanian government in an effort to win for the Reich oil, currency and other concessions.

At the same time, Hungary sent its premier to Rome for advice and negotiations which might help prevent war from enveloping that country. The fear of a tremendous offensive in a few weeks obviously has prompted the heads of many small European governments to rush all diplomatic and military preparations for the preservation of peace, at least within their frontiers.

The new French government of Premier Paul Reynaud suddenly won support from unexpected sources. Several influential newspapers welcomed the cabinet despite the fact that the Chamber of Deputies missed ousting it by only one vote.

Reynaud Moves Swiftly Defying his critics, Reynaud moved swiftly to prepare France for a "zero hour"—said to be due within three weeks. The premier presided over the first meeting of his super war cabinet at the foreign office.

RUSSIANS TAKE OVER PENINSULA IN HANGOE AREA

HELSINKI, March 23—Finland today officially handed over to Soviet Russia the Hangoe Peninsula, an area of 100 square miles which until recently was one of the Finnish navy's most important bases.

Under terms of the Soviet-Finnish peace treaty signed in Moscow, Hangoe is being leased to Russia as a naval and air base for 50 years.

A party of 20 Soviet military officials formally received custody of the district in a ceremony of surrender carried out by a small group of grim-faced Finnish officers.

All Finnish citizens abandoned Hangoe, leaving it bare of valuable property. It was reported the desertion was so complete that the Russian authorities expressed hope Finnish engineers would maintain light, water and food supplies until the Soviet occupation is completed.

The first party of Russians arrived in huge tri-motored planes, landing on the ice. Within 48 hours it was believed Russian troops will land at Hangoe from warships led through the frozen Gulf of Finland by ice-breakers.

(A British Broadcasting Company news program, picked up by the Columbia Broadcasting System short wave station in New York, said the Finnish government has issued a general embargo on exports. In addition, the British announced said it was believed the Finnish cabinet shortly will be reconstructed.)

O. A. LANMAN HAS FOUR HOPPERS ON EXHIBITION

O. A. Lanman, Walnut Creek Pike, doesn't let the weather cut any ice when it comes to deciding that it's summer, or at least spring. He is displaying to any interested persons the four grasshoppers that he caught Friday when plowing.

They are fully grown and of good size. Two are green and two brown. Lanman contends that you can't find grasshoppers until late in the spring or early in the summer, and then they are only little ones. But the size of the captive insects is real evidence that we have our seasons mixed.

At any rate he has the grasshoppers on display, chirps and all,

5-1 Odds Claim Louis To Belt Paychek In Five

Challenger Has Shown Only Blackeye In His Workouts; How He Got Bout Becomes Deep Mystery To Fight Followers

By Layton Carver

NEW YORK, March 23—Johnny Paychek, Des Moines heavyweight, is established as of today at 5 to 1 to get belted out by Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis inside of five rounds when they brush against each other for the title next Friday night. By the time they enter the ring the odds may be even longer, for the nearer they get to the fight the worse Paychek looks in training, and if he goes as many as three rounds it will be a moral victory for him and almost certain proof of retrogression on the part of the champion. That's the kind of match it is. In other words, Paychek can't and mustn't win.

People who have been around long enough keep reminding you that this one reminds them very much of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight of 1921. Like Carpenter, Paychek is being given a phony buildup which includes secret training sessions, beyond the prying eyes of the press, and by this time such procedure is accepted as the tipoff that the thing can't by anything more than a brief volley of target practice for the champion.

Only Blackeye Shown

Benny Leonard, the former lightweight champion, has entered the Paychek camp as chief ballyhoo man with a specified price attached, but no one is paying him any head at all when he babbles for publication that Paychek is going to be the next champion. Paychek has shown so little, except a black eye, in his public training that everybody refuses to believe anything can transpire in secret to change what must be his fate—sudden and rather complete unconsciousness next Friday evening.

But his luck changed when Byron Nelson gave him his driver, and shots that used to find the rough began to cling to the fairways.

Even without the $1000 he won for his North and South title, Ben's earnings for the winter placed him second only to Jimmy Demaret, so the little fellow has been doing well enough financially. His earnings now total $4038 compared with the leader's $6152.

Ben was born in Dublin, Texas, 28 years ago come August 12. He was a caddy at Fort Worth before moving on to large and more lucrative fields. He is now the pro at the Century Country Club, White Plains, N. Y.

Although he weighs only 140 pounds, Ben can drive a ball about as far as anybody in the world.

DEACON SILENT ON REPORT THAT VANDY WILL GO

HAVANA, Cuba, March 23—Skipper Deacon McKechnie made no comment today on a circulated report that Johnny Vander Meer, double-no-hitter hero of 1938, was headed back to the minors unless he shows greatly increased effectiveness.

Meanwhile the Cincinnati Reds were to tangle again with the Cuban All-Stars in an effort to obtain revenge for the 11 to 7 defeat which was charged to Vandy Thursday.

NEWARK PLANS RELAYS

NEWARK, March 23—Another scholastic track meet was on the books today with the announcement that a civic group would sponsor the Newark Relays, scheduled for May 4.

Feller, Boudreau Chief Hopes Of Clevelanders

CLEVELAND, March 23—In the strong right arm of a 21-year-old rookie shortstop and a 21-year-old pitcher who last season led the team's pitching corps in victories lie the 1940 pennant hopes of the Cleveland Indians in the American League.

If Rapid Robert Feller can come through with another 20-win campaign as he did last year and the rest of the hurling staff is improved enough for at least one member to match Feller in victories Manager Oscar Vitt will be wearing one of his broadest smiles come next September.

Another factor important in the Tribe's scheme of things is whether the team can start the season with the same club spirit and drive that characterized their late 1939 spring into third place.

By early January a complete team had been signed up for 1940 and although several veterans were not in the fold by then there was every indication that things were harmonious between the players and the front office.

Feller was one of the first to affix his signature to a contract which was reported to call for a $22,000 salary for the young strikeout king from the Iowa farm country.

Shortly afterwards Outfielders Jeff Heath, Roy Weatherly and Ben Chapman signed, then infielder Boudreau, Ken Keltner, Sammy Hale and Oscar Grimes.

The club's quest for a right-handed hitting outfielder ended when Roy (Beau) Bell was obtained from the Detroit Tigers in a straight trade for Bruce Campbell.

Although Bell had experienced a poor season in 1938 with the St. Louis Browns and was sparingly used with the Tigers last year Vitt was confident a change of pasture would change Bell from a washed up player to a vital cog in the Indians attack.

That Man Paychek Gets Advice

NEXT foe of Joe Louis, the heavy king, Johnny Paychek of Des Moines, Ia., gets a bit of advice from Benny Leonard, former lightweight champion, who has picked the midwesterner to defeat Louis. The scene is New York where the bout will be held, March 29.

Grover Says Cage Rules Should Not Be Changed

ATHENS, March 23—Any major changes in basketball rules such as the new type on bankboards or the elimination of the four personal foul rule, raising the baskets to 12 feet, or the return to the center jump, are not likely to be made this year, according to B. T. Grover, president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

Grover, advisory cage coach at Ohio University and long a colorful figure in midwestern cage circles as head coach at Ohio University, is insistent in his behalf that the rules should be let alone for a few years, and let the coaches, players, officials and spectators come to understand and interpret the rapidly changing game.

Grover also stated that the game as played today is improved from the spectators viewpoint mainly because of major changes of the past eight years. Any more immediate major changes in the game, however, would make it increasingly difficult for coaches, officials, and players to interpret the rules.

The three-day meeting will include discussions of cage techniques by Nat Holman, City College of New York, Dr. Forrest C. Allen, Kansas University, and Douglas Mills, University of Illinois.

A discussion of many suggested radical changes in the game will be discussed by the NABC rules committee.

Grover will preside at the 14th annual convention of the NABC to be held in Kansas City, Mo., on March 28, 29, and 30. At that time the rules committee of the organization will meet and make recommendations to the National Intercollegiate Rules Committee which meets in Kansas City following the coaches convention.

ATHENS, March 23—The 14th annual convention of the National Association of Basketball Coaches will be held March 28, 29, and 30, in Kansas City, Mo.

Announcement of the convention program was made today by Brandon T. Grover, national president of the association.

The new instructor is greatly impressed with the Pickaway County Club course. He said: "The course is rolling enough and tricky enough to keep any golfer on his toes. However, it is not in the category of a tiring course, one that wears out a golfer before he is able to finish nine holes."

Incidentally, the Pickaway Club course was laid out by Charlie Lorms, Columbus Country Club pro, who is a personal friend of Peebles.

The new pro hopes to create more interest at the local club than has ever been evidenced before.

"There'll be something doing all the time," he said, "to keep the club's member interested."

The Pickaway County Club has become exceedingly popular with golfers from Chillicothe and Lancaster and Peebles hopes to keep this interest during the coming season. He plans to promote interclub matches with various Country Clubs and in his little red book of experience he has numerous special events arranged that should keep many persons at the Club throughout the summer.

Triumph Over Death

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Matthew 27:57-28:6

By Alfred J. Buescher

The day after Jesus' crucifixion the chief priests and Pharisees went to Pilate and asked him for a special guard for the tomb for them, they said, He has said, told them to use the guard and seal the tomb, which they did.

Early on the morning of Sunday, after the Jewish Sabbath, the two Marys, Mary Magdalene and the mother of James and Joseph, went to the tomb with spices to anoint the body of their Lord, but an earthquake had rolled away the stone, and an angel told them Jesus had risen.

The women "departed quickly from the sepulchre with fear and great joy; and did run to bring His disciples word," says Matthew. As they went, behold Jesus met them, saying, "All hail." And they came and held Him by the feet and worshipped Him.

The guards, having been rendered "as dead" by the earthquake, ran to the chief priests and told them, asking what they should do. They were given money and told to say the disciples stole the body while the guards slept.

(GOLDEN TEXT—I Cor. 15:20)

not dead. He is risen. No matter what discouragements the world is meeting at this time, we must have faith that out of all this tragedy and grief, too, the Lord will rise and make all the earth once more rejoice.

FROZEN SLEEP

NOT content with "freezing cancer victims to cure or alleviate their disease, scientists are now freezing drug addicts. The freezing is not complete, of course, but a reduction of bodily temperature to 90 degrees or less instead of the usual 98 degrees plus.

Such reduction of temperature has a most surprising effect. The patient falls into a very deep sleep, in which his mind appears to become completely blank. This condition is continued for three days, apparently without harmful effect. When he is awakened by being slowly warmed up to normal temperature, all his normal facilities return, but there is said to be no desire left for the accustomed drug.

This explanation is that such a drug addiction as "morphinism" appears to be not a physical condition but purely psychic. That is, the mind and not the body is affected. Thus when the mind is made blank for a time, as in this refrigeration treatment, the mental desire for the drug disappears and the patient becomes normal.

This seems too good, and too easy, to be true. People naturally wonder how far such treatment can be extended, whether it will overcome all the usual drug addictions. Also, if abnormal cravings can be erased from the mind in this way, whether various other mental abnormalities can't be handled in the same way.

TRAINING CITIZENS

AN educator, interested in training for democracy in the public schools, finds a good job being done in very few of them. Asked to define democracy, a large majority of high school students express only vague notions about it. The best answers, showing most understanding, come from the children of naturalized parents. Most of the children of "old stock" Americans who mention the "rights" and "privileges" of citizens in a democracy have nothing at all to say of "duties" or "responsibilities."

Let's not get too excited about these ignorant youngsters. Many oldsters would be hard put to it to define democracy promptly and clearly. They'd be likely to overlook civic responsibility and to stress only civil rights. And some of them today are dubious about the civil rights of people whose ideas they dislike.

The rise of totalitarian governments abroad may be credited with one good result if it leads us to a closer scrutiny of our own democracy, our theories about it and our practice of it. "When parents and teachers are clear about these things, the boys and girls will be."

We see by the foreign news that German Jews are to have religious freedom in Palestine, East Africa and Madagascar.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

WHEELER LEFT UP IN THE AIR

WASHINGTON—Latest to try to smoke out Roosevelt on the third term was Senator Burt Wheeler, who harbors White House ambitions himself.

The Montanian made his cast during a conference with Roosevelt on the trade treaty issue. Wheeler explained that personally he has no objections to reciprocal trade, but that sentiment among Montana cattlemen and farmers is so strong he will have to fight it to be re-elected. Smiling broadly, the President said he understood.

Wheeler then turned the conversation to politics, intimating that he thought the time had come for Roosevelt to speak out about his plans. He owed it to the party, his friends, and to himself to say what was what. The President listened quietly and then with a grin said:

"Thanks for the advice, Burt. It's always helpful to receive good, constructive views."

NOTE—Wheeler is telling friends that inner circles have been secretly propositioning him to take a place on a "New Deal ticket", a statement which the New Dealers hotly deny. According to them, the President is dead set against Wheeler as one of the Democratic standard bearers.

CAPITAL CHAFF

One of the first lessons to be learned by a woman with social aspirations in Washington is the schedule of "at home" days. Prominent official wives set aside one day in the week to be at home to callers. Monday is "at home" day for wives of Supreme Court Justices; Tuesday, for wives of Congressmen; Wednesday, for Cabinet wives; Tuesday, for wives of Congressmen; Wednesday, for Cabinet wives; Thursday, for Senators' wives, and Friday for the wives of diplomats . . . According to Brazilian Ambassador Martins, the heroic resistance of the Finns to Russia was a triumph for coffee drinking. Finnish per capita consumption of coffee is much higher than that of the U. S. . . Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Adolf Berle have started what they call a "back to the chairs" movement, meaning that guests are actually invited to sit down. Secret of the movement is smaller parties. . . Seen on Massachusetts Avenue any bright morning—Secretary Morgenthau walking to work, leading on a leash his giant great Dane "Dano," who measures five feet from nose to tail and stands as high as a pony.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Inner circle master minds continue to make no progress persuading the President to revive the billion-dollar spend-lend bill turned down by Congress last summer.

With his ear attuned to the clamor for economy on Capitol Hill, Roosevelt has turned his advisers down. But the confidential economic analysis they have submitted to him is disquieting.

On the basis of their estimates, the Federal Reserve production index, which was around 125 in January and is now down to 105, will bog down to 80, or under, by July. This was the low point it reached in May, 1938, at the tail-end of the 1937 slump, and before the big spending program of that year started another upward spiral.

Cause of the current upset, according to government experts, is "inventory

Up hoping that the coal pile outlasts the winter. Enroute to the furnace room did note a registration of 17 on the outside thermometer. Is this spring? Noted in the morning prints that the belligerents in Europe continue their name-calling and sparring without any particular war damage as have grown to expect war damage.

Heard about the city woman who decided that she would like to raise a dozen chickens, so she took a dozen eggs out of the refrigerator and bought a sitting hen. Then, she asked a friend how soon eggs hatched and was informed that chickens hatch in 21 days, ducks require a few days more and geese hatch in four weeks. Later the friend saw the city woman and asked about her luck. "I waited 21 days," said the city woman and nothing happened. "I waited a few days more and nothing happened, and then I destroyed those eggs. I didn't want any geese."

Will Fitzpatrick's grand old dog, "Buddy," is dead at the age of 18. An extremely ripe old age for a dog and a lot of years in which the entire neighborhood came to know and like him. Buddy in his younger years when he required plenty of exercise ran in the same circle daily in the back yard until his course took on the appearance of a little race track. It was there for years. All dog owners join the Fitzpatricks in wishing Buddy happy times in the dogs' happy hunting grounds.

Someone asked what happens to the girl with cotton stockings and the answer, of course, is nothing. There goes Ham Rogers, who has just bought a farm, and here comes Fred Wittich, who has started off the fishing season by landing two and one-quarter pound bass in Yellowbird.

Wonder how many parents know that dope is being peddled in the village and that dope peddlers are no respectors of age. As a matter of fact they prefer starting the youngsters on perdition's road. For years I have contended that the narcotics law is not sufficiently severe. I think that the peddler of dope in any form should be sent up for life, and I mean life. He is an accessory before the fact in many a theft and many a killing. He has damned the lives of millions and will damn the lives of millions more. Maybe your youngster will be on the list.

Some local youngsters already smoke dope cigarettes. Federal agents have investigated locally and could get little information. Police are no more successful in their efforts. If those who really know something would talk to the authorities this practice of dope peddling could be broken up locally, but no one, it appears, cares to talk. I wish I had the real facts. Nothing would give me more pleasure than helping rid the community of the men and women who would send others to hell in order to pick up a few easy dollars for themselves.

Today's Horoscope

The domestic affairs of those who have birthdays today will prosper in the coming year. The young will court and marry happily. In business affairs, however, all should be on the watch for trickery. A child born on this date will be observant, enterprising and inspirational. He or she will also possess great courage.

DIET AND HEALTH

Curing Constipation With a Proper Diet

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE IDEAL thing for the treatment of constipation is to replace drugs or cathartics with diet. I believe that any human intestinal tract on earth, whether it is supposed to be constipated or not, will respond to a diet with a proper amount of bulk.

There is an old piece of nonsense in all the textbooks about the two varieties of constipation—spastic and astatic. I do not believe there is any such distinction. I believe they are all astatic and, therefore, they will all benefit from the same type of diet.

In general, the proper diet for constipation is one which has a considerable bulk in it. Those foods having a large proportion of indigestible residue which is not absorbed and remains inside the intestine.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

testinal canal are best. The residue acts as a mild stimulant to the intestinal muscular movements.

Fruits Are Staples

Fruits are staples of anti-constipation diets. Not only do they have the large residue required, but their juices also have moderate cathartic properties, especially apples. At the Presbyterian Hospital, Chicago, when that great clinician was alive, applesauce used to be called "Dr. Sippy's cathartic." Molasses and honey have the same properties; so does ginger.

High residue diets are valuable for any case of constipation. For people with sedentary occupations, such as girls confined to stuffy offices all day, sitting at a typewriter, they furnish a good antidote to the effects of their occupation. But for the "colitis" type of bowel they may be too irritating.

Such foods are as follows:

Vegetables—Spinach, peas, beans, corn, cauliflower, cabbage, lettuce, tomatoes, celery, onions.

Cereals—Oats, mush, hominy grits. (Cooked cereals with bran.)

Red Noses May Be Part Of The Easter Parade

Weatherman, Though, May Observe Day With Surprise

By Lyall Cryder
With no hint of cooperation from the weatherman, Easter outfit will probably be worn this year with undesired accessories in the form of red noses and acute shivers!—For worn they will be, after the expending of time and energy of many days in their choice, to say nothing of the wads of folding money.

The final insult for the Easter parade would be for the half promised snow to fall on these dainty garments.

One of the wonders of the world to me is the faith and hope expended each year in the acquisition of Easter togs, no previous 'dampening' experience ever carrying enough weight to stop the fair ones in their frenzied search for something "new and different". In this regard, let me whisper a little secret, if it is too new and too different, you should see them fight shy. That really was the origin of shopping, the necessity for looking over new styles until you could convince yourself you were not insane.

In making purchases this year, the shopper was not constrained in choice of styles, for they were many and mostly weird.

Our lady could step out to church on Easter, and who would miss this important service, as a Gibson Girl, correct in gored skirt, sailor hat, and shirt waist,—pardon me—blouse'. (That 'shirt waist' slip surely dates you.)

If sweet, simple and dainty was her style, tiny flower hats could perch over one eye, and lovely flower like frocks in pastel shades were immediately available.

The "tailored maid" had the smartest of suits to choose from with sharp color contrasts in shoes, hats, gloves and purse to lift her outfit into the ultra style expressing her individuality.

If the need for a coat was indicated, there are closely fitted military styles and smart swaggers of all lengths and materials in tones to rival Joseph's coat of many colors.

She could be suave in sophisticated black, brilliant in red, gay in tweed or still be up-to-the-minute in every combination of material and color that she might choose to express her own style ideas.

There is an old expression, "she must be looking for a man", which frequently slips out when a lovely lady puts her best foot forward and steps out in a complete outfit of modern garments. Just a little quiet observation will convince you that that is not true, for what man could ever take in the many details that have gone to make up the perfect whole. The ladies, bless them, dress with the idea of putting out the eyes of their own kind as they,

from their own wild search for beauty, are the only ones qualified to be judges of perfect effects.

As I said before, many and varied are the styles this year. Even mother with her recourse to the accumulated garments of many years may at last be fashionable, for it would be unthinkable for her to have an all new outfit. Just by roving around the attic, selecting a hat from one box, a frock of any color from another, and the more color the better, choosing a coat from the vintage of long ago, having all freshly cleaned and there she is, for once the quintessence of fashion!

One thing only is necessary to make her outfit complete, to say nothing of her joy, and it must be new and up-to-the-minute! Just furnish her with a shoulder corsage, and for goodness sake do not make it "suitable to her age" and watch her step out with the best of them on Easter Day.

It has been nice to talk of styles it has even taken my mind off the weather threat. Who knows but that it might possibly influence the weatherman to be kind?

If he should not be, there is always a chance of borrowing Junior's discarded winter earbats to wear with the Easter bonnet and sneaking on a set of longies under the frocks.

Today's Garden-Graph

Mature trees planted in the average lawn area usually require additional plant food every two or three years. This is due to the fact that the grass robs them of food and moisture. The leaves of trees in such locations are always immediately raked up and disposed of, and not allowed to remain and rot thus forming a humus which in turn helps to feed the tree.

Manure, properly applied, is an excellent food for a mature tree. The proper method of applying a feeding of manure around a tree is shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. In a circle starting about three feet beyond the trees, remove a strip of sod extending to the circle formed by the outer spread of the tree's branches. On the area from which the sod has been removed, spread a three-inch layer of well-rotted manure into the soil. Level off the area, firm it well, and replace the sod.

Healthy, vigorous trees are much more beautiful in appearance than half-starved ones, and are better able to withstand summer droughts and winter cold.

Everything went along smoothly until the "speech prof.", Samuel R. Johnson, blurted out a "cut" and criticized an actor for not acting. Other interruptions came from the sound effects men in the form of police sirens, telephone calls, door bells, and dance music at a party.

Stage setting for practices consists of chalk lines for scenery, school chairs for furniture and many other substitutes such as a chuck of wood for a telephone. Mr. Johnson directs the play off stage and must use a pair of home-made stairs to get upon the stage — sometimes he climbs those steps 20 or 30 times an evening.

Your reporter observed that the various scenes rehearsed portrayed a combination of humorous, exciting, emotional and serious events. The play concerns the Wood family during a course of two days. The events include a party, the arrival of an unexpected week end guest, Roger Van Vleck, who contributes to the chaotic condition of the household. Many very amusing incidents are brought forth as Mervyn attempts to "put on a front" in his relatives' home where he and Roger are staying.

In order to accomplish as much as possible in the allotted time, only occasional "times-out" for lunch were taken. These occurred when some character or other was not on stage. Rehearsals last until 7:30 p.m. or later.

"That's all for tonight" is always welcome statement to the would-be-actors who quickly scurry out of the auditorium with books they have been studying while not "on stage".

Your reporter feels that anyone desiring a short-cut way to Hollywood may well take advantage of the Junior's theme, "how to become an actor" by attending the performance one of the two nights.

Plans for the dance, April 5, are now complete. Buy your ticket from any Stooge!

Warm-up coats for the football team next term are a certainty. The club voted to give $100 to this fund.

liquidation"—that is, halting of production in order to work off piled up goods.

Key signs of this depressive trend are: (1) the heavy drop in steel production, off 30 percent in February and in many steel plants already under 50 percent of capacity; (2) an equally marked curtailment in textiles; and (3) a sharp slowing down in the durable goods industries. Also the construction business, which enjoyed a bright boom last year, is back in the doldrums.

COMING SLUMP

Basis of the experts' forecast that the Federal Reserve index will sag to 80 by July is that there are no important factors on the horizon to halt the tailspin.

They concede that exports totaling $3,100,000,000 last year, will rise this year. Their estimates built up were only partially liquidated in the 1938 pick-up, and when the factories, under war stimulation of last fall, got into high gear again inventories shot back up to peak heights.

Had the hoped-for rush war orders materialized, this condition would have been remedied. But the orders, except in a few lines, such as airplanes, didn't show up and plants, with great stocks on their hands and no encouraging backlog of business, have begun to make heavy curtailments in production.

Those whose birthday it is are assured a year of steady advancement in the direction of well-aimed ambitions and with progress toward the goal of heart's desire. Superiors and influential persons are approachable and much may be gained by gracious correspondence. Shun impetuosity and extravagance.

A child born on this day may be fairly well-endowed for a successful and happy life. It may be gracious, friendly, refined and magnanimous, probably excessively generous or extravagant. It may have literary or artistic talents of note.

O. S. U. ASSOCIATION REORGANIZES WITH J. W. HENRY AS PRESIDENT

62 HEAR TALKS BY PROFESSOR AND PAT KIRWIN

Discussion Of School's Development Fund Heard

Roderick Peattie Speaks With Geography As His Subject

After a lapse of five years the Ohio State Alumni Association began to function again in Circleville Friday night. The organization was perfected over scarlet and gray decorated tables in the American Hotel's Hurricane where 62 members of the alumni gathered.

The reorganization got under way when Byron Eby, chairman of the meeting, appointed Judge Meeker Terwilliger, Dr. Edward Montgomery and Mrs. Sarah Pugsley as a nominating committee to submit the names of candidates for offices. Selections of the committee were accepted unanimously by the group. J. Wray Henry, president; David Harmon, vice president; Charlotte Moore, secretary; Dr. Charles Watts, treasurer, were the elected officers.

Pat Kirwin, associate alumni secretary of the University and a native of Circleville, urged the alumni to support the University's Development Fund in a short speech in which he outlined the work and benefits that have been derived from the fund in the last year.

He thanked the alumni for responding to the invitations to reorganize the association and asked persons present to put "the Pickaway County Association back on the Ohio State map."

Professor Roderick Peattie, nationally known geographer of the University, was introduced by Kirwin. Dr. Peattie, in a humor-studded talk, outlined the new meanings of geography and revealed aspects of that study that are far from the classic and academic conceptions that have always been applied to it.

Geography, he explained, is essentially the study of how people live. He told the association members that they must learn not merely to look at things, but to try to live the life of things.

Pictures of the Ohio State-University of Michigan football game, with a running comment by Kirwin, concluded the meeting.

JOHN L. CARMEAN, AWAITING WIFE, DIES IN AUTO

CHILLICOTHE, March 23—While his wife was shopping across the street, John L. Carmean, 45, foreman in the coating department of the Mead Corporation, who was sitting in his car parked in front of the Court House, died.

Returning a few minutes later, Mrs. Carmean found her husband's body slumped in the car.

Mr. Carmean, a native of Kinnekinnick, Ross County, served with the Rainbow Division during the World War. He was a member of the Ross County Post of the American Legion and the Foremen's Club of the Mead Corporation.

The widowed Mrs. Carmean is the former Bessie Roby of Kings-ton.

He is survived also by his father and four brothers.

HILLICOEANS TO ASK FOR LIGHT RATE SLASH

CHILLICOTHE, March 23—City officials are speculating on the possibility of a rate reduction as the result of a "rate-adjustment clause" in the city's light contract with the Columbus and Southern Electric Company since the company in its annual report shows the greatest profit in the history of the contract between the company and the city.

The domestic and commercial lighting ordinance which became effective in January, 1939 and which includes the rate adjustment clause, calls for the increase and decrease in rates in the event of certain fluctuations in unit costs for any six month period.

According to the ordinance, the company must file a statement with the city auditor if a fluctuation is decisive enough to effect a rate change. Such a statement has not been filed with him, Ira Korst, city auditor, reported. He said that he will suggest that the public utility committee of the city council institute an investigation.

HOLLYWOOD'S PRETTIEST WEDS YOUNG SPORTSMAN

HOLLYWOOD, March 23—Lin Howard, wealthy young sportsman, and Judith Barrett, pretty contract player at Paramount studios, were honeymooning today after a surprise flight to Yuma, Ariz., yesterday where they were married by Justice Ed Winn.

Lin is the son of Charles Howard, owner of the noted race horse, Seabiscuit, and is himself the owner of Ligarioti and other thoroughbreds which he races in conjunction with Crooner Bing Crosby, under the name of the Binglin stables.

Often called the prettiest girl in Hollywood, Judith, whose real name is Lucile Kelly, was once married to Cliff Edwards, ukulele player and movie actor. French Newspapers Rally To Support Reynaud After Narrow Vote

Democracy Imperiled
The moderate newspaper Figaro went far editorially to demand suppression of the public from parliamentary meetings in time of war because "these debates, where intellectual poverty vis à vis incoherence, are imperilling democracy."

Furthermore, the newspaper added, the clearest warnings are being sounded of impending events in southeastern Europe. Therefore, "there is an increasing need for a show of strength" in France, Figaro declared.

Pertinax, French foreign affairs commentator, openly demanded more support for Reynaud, saying: "If Reynaud and his colleagues had had weakness last night the impression would have prevailed that France was ripe for a white peace."

Berlin and London were comparatively quiet, but the capitals of neutral nations buzzed with many alarming reports.

Amsterdam said Chancellor Hitler plans to announce a spectacular diplomatic victory during the Easter season. The speculation centers largely around the possible conclusion of a Russo-German-Italian pact bringing all three into a state of military cooperation.

Helsinki sadly revealed that Finland has given up the Hangoe Peninsula to Soviet Russia for use as a naval and air base. There were also increased rumors of a reshuffling in the Finnish government.

A British submarine attack on a German ore ship, carrying a cargo from Narvik, Norway, to German ports, was the main subject of conversation in London. Torpedoing of the Nazi vessel in the dangerous waters of the Skagerak, near Denmark, was seen as the opening gun in a British drive to cut German iron ore shipping travelling to and from the northern countries.

John Steel, who has been in California for the past four months returned to his home here Friday. He reports that the local boys, Lowell Hall, Robert, Charles and George Thompson and Robert Macklin are working.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kessel of Columbus were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hedges, Sunday.

WASHINGTON, March 23—Now that Postmaster General Farley has thrown his hat into the presidential ring he should resign as chairman of the Democratic national committee, Sen. Van Nuys (D) Ind., asserted today.

Although backing Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt for the presidential nomination, Van Nuys said he was "very fond of Jim," adding:

"I could support Jim as a nominee very gladly but I do not think it is fair to the other candidates that he retain his position as national chairman, capitalizing on the prestige which that office entails."

Mayon W. B. Cady reduced the youth's fine from $50 after gaining a promise that the stolen money would be replaced.

In the winter the sloop is tied to a dock. Little Ann likes the idea, too. "I swing myself to sleep in my hammock," she says. ## THE GARDEN CLINIC

By VICTOR H. RIES,
O. S. U. floriculturist

QUESTION: Can you suggest a shrub for a northern exposure where the wind is always blowing around the corner? I would like to use this shrub as a windbreak for my Christmas rose.

ANSWER: There are several shrubs that would be very satisfactory under these conditions, including the wayfaring-tree (Viburnum lantana), the arrowwood (Viburnum dentatum), the Iota privet, or Lonicera maackii podocarpi.

QUESTION: What kind of a flowering tree can I plant in the section between the sidewalk and the street?

ANSWER: I would not recommend any flowering tree for such a situation. The street trees along any one block and preferably along flowers, Clematis heracleifolia with purple flowers, and the Clematis recta with white flowers.

QUESTION: How do you plant holly berries to get them to grow?

ANSWER: The seeds of the American holly, like those of most other woody plants, require a low temperature treatment of 41 degrees or less before they germinate. Most of them require about six weeks of this. Since the pulp of fruit usually slows up germination, the pulp of holly berries or any other fruits of this nature should be removed, the seeds sown sometime during the late fall or early winter, and left outdoors all winter. They will germinate in the following spring. If not given this treatment, they will not germinate for a year.

QUESTION: Is the scarlet hawthorn better than the Washington hawthorn for a foundation planting shrub?

ANSWER: By the scarlet hawthorn I take it you mean Paul's scarlet thorn which is a tree, as is the Washington thorn. Consequently, except for a taller accent possibly at the corner of the house or a big bare space between windows at the side of the house, you would not have any use for these plants in the foundation planting. They are both excellent flowering trees, having good foliage and nice bloom. The Washington thorn has the added advantage of a red fruit which stays on throughout the winter.

QUESTION: In what kind of soil and how much moisture do tree peonies grow?

ANSWER: Tree peonies grow under the same conditions as ordinary peonies—good soil, well drained, with ample sunlight and no competition from tree roots.

QUESTION: What are the best of the shrubby clematis?

ANSWER: The three shrubby clematis which you ordinarily buy, all of which are satisfactory, are Clematis integrifolia with blue QUESTION: For general gardening I would recommend America's Garden Book by Bush-Brown; Gardening by Montague Free; and the Complete Book of Gardening by Leonard Baron. for books on landscape gardening, I would recommend the Art of Home Landscaping by M. E. Bottomley; Planning and Planting the Home Garden by Pauline Murray. For those interested, we have a rather complete classified book list which we will be glad to send upon request.

QUESTION: What are the best bushes for dry ground? I would prefer those which have winter fruit.

ANSWER: When you start growing shrubs under adverse conditions such as heavy shade or unusually dry ground, you very often find you have to give up profuse blooming. Some of the shrubs that will withstand the dry conditions are the various forms of tamarix, five-leaf aralia, the privets including Iota and Regel, the Morrow honeysuckle, tatarian honeysuckle, and the buffalo berry, Shepherdia.

Steamer Taking Welles Across Ocean Delayed For Search By British

LONDON, March 23—Britain today officially admitted British contraband control authorities held the Italian liner Conte Di Savoia at Gibraltar for 13 hours while they searched the ship from stem-to-stern for "certain persons travelling under false passports."

Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles was aboard the ship, anxious to reach American shores as quickly as possible in order to hand over his diplomatic findings to President Roosevelt.

A report that the British suspected the presence of a high German government official on the vessel—possibly former Reichsbank President Hjalmar Schacht—was not immediately confirmed.

A government spokesman refused to divulge whether Schacht was implicated and declared that he had no information as to whether anyone was taken from the liner before it was released for the trans-Atlantic voyage.

Drive To Halt Nazi Ore Supply Hinted

LONDON, March 23—A daring British naval drive to cut the flow of Swedish iron ore to German ports may be imminent, it was believed today, following disclosure that a British submarine "wriggled" its way close to the Baltic and sank a Nazi ore ship.

Torpedoed by the British U-boat, the German merchantman thereby became the first of the Reich's vessels to be sent down by a British submarine attack. The ship was the 4,974-ton Heddermehelm, the admiralty announced.

The opening Allied blow against German shipping between the ore-loading port of Narvik, Norway, and German ports was hailed in England as one of the most daring exploits of the war.

After picking a way through heavily mined waters into the Skagerrak off Denmark's northern coast, intercepting the ship and sinking it, the British U-boat turned back safely toward the North Sea and escape from possible destruction by lurking German warships.

60 German Sailors Interned In Britain

LONDON, March 23—Britain played host today to 60 more German prisoners of war, all of them seamen of the 7,414-ton passenger ship La Coruna. The Nazi vessel was scuttled to prevent capture, but British warships rescued the crew members and brought them to a Scottish port.

Icicles May Prevail On Milady's Easter Bonnet Unless Weather Changes

.... "In your Easter bonnet
You'll find icicles on it,
And be the coldest lady"....

This revised phrase from a popular Easter season tune may be the theme song of Circleville's Easter celebration scheduled for Sunday, as the weather man continues to predict cold weather. He softens his stern prediction a trifle by declaring that the sun will probably shine.

Regardless of the temperature and the possibility that fur coats may hide many of the season's fineries, Circleville is ready to participate in the Easter event.

Churches of the community are planning elaborate programs (details appear on Page 3). Sunrise rites, cantatas, special sermons, pantomimes, etc., have been arranged for presentation during the day, regarded by most persons as the year's outstanding church event.

Saturday brought the lowest temperature readings in many weeks, and the farther the day progressed the more convinced folk became that Easter really would be frigid. The government thermometer registered a low reading of 16 degrees at 7 a.m. Saturday after being only as high as 38 Friday. Had Easter been observed last Sunday the weather would have been more nearly appropriate, because that day brought readings of 70 high and 56 low. No day this week has brought a high temperature that could even touch last Sunday's low mark.

"Nothing in particular occurred on the Western Front," Berlin reported.

"The air force carried out numerous reconnoitering flights over France despite heavy pursuit and anti-aircraft activities.

"In connection with some enemy reconnoitering flights near the border zone, one British plane was shot down by a Messerschmitt near Cleve."

(Amsterdam dispatches said a British plane was shot down just inside the Netherlands frontier, plummeting into an inundated defense zone.)

(Hundreds of Netherlands citizens saw the British plane attacked by three German planes over German territory. Two of the Nazi aircraft formed a smoke screen while the third attacked the Briton with heavy aerial guns. The British flyers were killed in the crash.)

WEEK OF DIGGING NEEDED TO FIND ALL MINE DEAD

NEFFS, March 23—A week or more of digging and sifting through tons of rock and debris remains before the last of the bodies of 72 miners, killed in the Willow Grove mine blast last Saturday, will be taken from the pit, a mine official said today. Twenty-seven men were still entombed.

Although weary rescue crews

Forty-two victims have been taken from the pit since the unexplained blast.

Three more men, who rushed into the mine immediately after the blast in a rescue attempt, were fatally gassed.

Meanwhile, mine officials heavily denied the charge of John Owens, president of District Six, United Mine Workers, that the explosion would not have occurred if the workings had been properly rock-dusted.

Owens, who made the charge

while testifying before a congressional investigating committee, said that all mines would remain

"reservoirs breeding death" until basic mining necessities" were adopted universally.

The committee is endeavoring to gather information to be used in considering legislation requiring that all mines be federally inspected annually.

Al has talked little about his life

cepted the penalty philosophically, his brother said. The long auto-

DAIRY EMPLOYEE LEAVES CAR TO REACH WORK ON TIME; FIRE RUINS AUTO

William Gannon, an employee of the Pickaway Dairy Company, was having trouble with his car at 6 o'clock Saturday morning as he was driving to work. So he parked the car on the Hargreaves bridge, North Court Street.

The Fire department received a call at 6:15 to extinguish a blaze on North Court.

Gannon's car caught fire after he had left it there to get to work on time.

The car was badly burned, but was completely covered by insurance.

F.D. Knew Of Cromwell's Speech Before Delivery

NEW YORK, March 23—A copy of James H. R. Cromwell's pro-Ally speech which brought congressional demands for his recall as U. S. minister to Canada and an unprecedented public rebuke from Secretary of State Hull was in President Roosevelt's hands two days before it was delivered in Toronto last Tuesday, the Daily Mirror said today in a copyrighted story.

From a close friend of Cromwell, the Mirror said it was learned that the young minister spoke in the confidence of an envoy with tacit approval of his chief" because "the whole text of his remarks had been at the White House since last Sunday."

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Secretary Hull disclaimed any advance knowledge of the speech until he received an official copy last Thursday following which he chas- tised Cromwell.)

Although some quarters foresaw Cromwell's resignation as a result of the incident, the Mirror de- clared such was not the case.

"The Mirror's informant said Cromwell will not resign as a result of Hull's reprimand," the story continued. "He has nothing to regret in what he said—in fact, is proud of it all. His only regret is in hurting Hull's feelings.

It was said to have observed: 'I feel like a freshman who has hurt a venerable old dean.'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: At the Cromwell home in Somerville, N. J., a representative of the envoy said he has no intention of resigning. At Cromwell's New York office it was stated there was no basis for any reports of his resignation.)

At midnight the fire was brought under control. Previously it was feared that the whole town might burn.

Volunteers carried water by bucket and tub to a pumping engine of the Portsmouth fire department, and the Norfolk and Western railroad moved several tank cars of water to the scene.

The fire was still smoldering when probers combed the ruins of the cob-room of the grain mill, where the fire was believed to have started. It was said that fire broke out in the same place a week ago, but was brought under control before doing any damage.

The party of 20 Soviet military officials formally received custody of the district in a ceremony of surrender carried out by a small group of grim-faced Finnish officers.

All Finnish citizens abandoned Hangoe, leaving it bare of valuable property. It was reported the desertion was so complete that the Russian authorities expressed hope Finnish engineers would maintain light, water and food supplies until the Soviet occupation is completed.

The first party of Russians arrived in huge tri-motored planes, landing on the ice. Within 48 hours it was believed Russian troops will land at Hangoe from warships led through the frozen Gulf of Finland by ice-breakers.

They are fully grown and of good size. Two are green and two brown. Lanman contends that you can't find grasshoppers until late in the spring or early in the summer, and then they are only little ones. But the size of the captive insects is real evidence that we have our seasons mixed.

At any rate he has the grasshoppers on display, chirps and all.

NAZI CONFEREES VISIT RUMANIA TO OBTAIN OIL

French Newspapers Rally To Support Reynaud After Narrow Vote

WAR ADVISERS CALLED

Increasing Need Claimed For Show Of Strength; Three Weeks Vital

By International News Service While the approach of Easter seemed to lull actual military hostilities, the war on the diplomatic front was intensified in Europe today with particular reference to the Balkans.

A German trade delegation, led by the astute Dr. Carl Clodius, grappled with the Rumanian government in an effort to win for the Reich oil, currency and other concessions.

At the same time, Hungary sent its premier to Rome for advice and negotiations which might help prevent war from enveloping that country. The fear of a tremendous offensive in a few weeks obviously has prompted the heads of many small European governments to rush all diplomatic and military preparations for the preservation of peace, at least within their frontiers.

The new French government of Premier Paul Reynaud suddenly won support from unexpected sources. Several influential newspapers welcomed the cabinet despite the fact that the Chamber of Deputies missed ousting it by only one vote.

Reynaud Moves Swiftly Defying his critics, Reynaud moved swiftly to prepare France for a "zero hour"—said to be due within three weeks. The premier presided over the first meeting of his super war cabinet at the foreign office.

Showing himself to be the "man-of-action" demanded by the French to carry on a more intensive war effort, Reynaud arrived at the meeting first of all his ministers. He was followed by General Gustave Gamelin, Anglo-French military chieftain, and former Premier Daladier, who now holds the post of war minister.

Deliberations began shortly after 5 a.m. (Circleville time) and continued well past noon, an indication that the cabinet was determined not to waste time in mapping out future French military policy.

Although the Chamber of Deputies last night gave the Reynaud government a majority of only one vote, the cabinet decided to carry on at least until Parliament returns from its Easter vacation April 2.

Until this morning it was generally believed the Reynaud cabinet might not survive after that date, but a severe reaction against the (Continued on Page Eight)

O. A. LANMAN HAS FOUR HOPPERS ON EXHIBITION

5-1 Odds Claim Louis To Belt Paychek In Five

Challenger Has Shown Only Blackeye In His Workouts; How He Got Bout Becomes Deep Mystery To Fight Followers

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, March 23—Johnny Paychek, Des Moines heavyweight, is established as of today at 5 to 1 to get belted out by Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis inside of five rounds when they brush against each other for the title next Friday night. By the time they enter the ring the odds may be even longer, for the nearer they get to the fight the worse Paychek looks in training, and if he goes as many as three rounds it will be a moral victory for him and almost certain proof of retrogression on the part of the champion. That's the kind of match it is. In other words, Paychek can't and mustn't win.

People who have been around long enough keep reminding you that this one reminds them very much of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight of 1921. Like Carpenter, Paychek is being given a phony buildup which includes secret training sessions, beyond the prying eyes of the press, and by this time such procedure is accepted as the tipoff that the thing can't be anything more than a brief volley of target practice for the champion.

Only Blackeye Shown

Benny Leonard, the former lightweight champion, has entered the Paychek camp as chief ballyhoo man with a specified price attached, but no one is paying him any heed at all when he babbles to publication that Paychek is going to be the next champion. Paychek has shown so little, except a black eye, in his public training that everybody refuses to believe anything can transpire in secret to change what must be his fate—sudden and rather complete unconsciousness next Friday evening.

On paper this must rank among the two or three most one-sided fights Louis has engaged in and it must be accepted as a fact that Louis has slipped beyond redemption if he doesn't win in three rounds at the very most. He ought to do it in one.

There is one point about this fight can't be lightly laughed off. Paychek is an ordinary opponent, catching Louis at a time when he is coming back from a distinct shock to his pride, the face with Arturo Gody. And Louis is pro.

So he is going out there blasting away with the result that Paychek will have to be a super-boxer and super-puncher to keep the champion off. Paychek is neither. In fact, you wonder how he got the match in the first place.

NEWARK PLANS RELAYS

NEWARK, March 23—Another scholastic track meet was on the books today with the announcement that a civic group would sponsor the Newark Relays, scheduled for May 4.

Feller, Boudreau Chief Hopes Of Clevelanders

CLEVELAND, March 23—In the strong right arm of a 21-year-old rookie shortstop and a 21-year-old pitcher who last season led the team's pitching corps in victories lie the 1940 pennant hopes of the Cleveland Indians in the American League.

If Rapid Robert Feller can come through with another 20-win campaign as he did last year and the rest of the hurling staff is improved enough for at least one member to match Feller in victories Manager Oscar Vitt will be wearing one of his broadest smiles come next September.

Another factor important in the Tribe's scheme of things is whether the team can start the season with the same club spirit and drive that characterized their late 1939 spurt into third place.

By early January a complete head had been signed up for 1940 and although several veterans were not in the fold by then there was every indication that things were harmonious between the players and the front office.

Feller was one of the first to affix his signature to a contract which was reported to call for a $22,000 salary for the young star. The club's quest for a right-handed hitting outfielder ended when Roy (Beau) Bell was obtained from the Detroit Tigers in a straight trade for Bruce Campbell.

Although Bell had experienced a poor season in 1938 with the St. Louis Browns and was sparingly used by the Tigers last year Vitt was confident a change of pasture would change Bell from a washed up player to a vital cog in the Indians attack.

The reason why Vitt has high hopes for his kid shortstop is simple. Boudreau joined the Indians early in August and the Tribe was in fifth place. The club won 19 of its last 23 games on the road, an almost unbelievable feat for a team

That Man Paychek Gets Advice

NEXT toe of Joe Louis, the heavy king, Johnny Paychek of Des Moines, Ia., gets a bit of advice from Benny Leonard, former lightweight champion, who has picked the midwesterner to defeat Louis. The scene is New York where the bout will be held, March 29.

Grover Says Cage Rules Should Not Be Changed

ATHENS, March 23—Any major changes in basketball rules such as the new type on bankboards or the elimination of the four personal foul rule, raising the baskets to 12 feet, or the return to the center line, are not likely to be made this year, according to B. T. Grover, president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

Grover, advisory cage coach at Ohio University and long a colorful figure in midwestern cage circles as head coach at Ohio University, is insistent in his behalf that the rules should be let alone for a few years, and let the coaches, players, officials and spectators come to understand and interpret the rapidly changing game.

Grover also stated that the game as played today is improved from the spectators viewpoint mainly because of major changes of the past eight years. Any more immediate major changes in the game, however, would make it increasingly difficult for coaches, officials, and players to interpret the game.

Grover will preside at the 14th annual conference of the NABC to be held in Kansas City, Mo., on March 25, 26, and 30. At that time the rules committee of the organization will meet and make recommendations to the National Intercollegiate Rules Committee which meets in Kansas City following the coaches convention.

ATHENS, March 23—The 14th annual convention of the National Association of Basketball Coaches will be held March 28, 29, and 30, in Kansas City, Mo.

Announcement of the convention program was made today by Brandon T. Grover, national president of the association.

The three-day meeting will include discussions of cage techniques by Nat Holman, City College of New York, Dr. Forrest C. Allen, Kansas University, and Douglas Mills, University of Illinois.

A discussion of many suggested radical changes in the game will be discussed by the NABC rules committee.

Conn's Boils Force Joe Jacobs To Have Shivers

By Pat Robinson

NEW YORK, March 23—Along the Harlem today we find a sure sign of spring...Columbia has teams working out at track, baseball, football, crew and tennis...

Mike Jacobs is boiling over Billy Conn's boils...causing the second postponement of his fight with Gus Lesnevich...and the fifth cancellation of a major bout Mike has had in as many weeks...

And did you know that rope climbing is a sport?...or that navy's Stan Ellison...world record holder...will try to break his win mark of 3.6 seconds for a 20-foot ascent...against the Army at West Point today...

Or were you aware that Ken Overlin...the trouping middleweight...did 20,000 miles reaching his battle sites by airplane last year?...or that Mac Bishop...Connie Mack's old second baseman...is coaching the Middle...

Another surprising fact was that 1939 was the first year Boudreau had played shortstop. He was a third sacker in college and in a Class B league in 1938.

The Indians requested he be shifted to short when he was sent to Buffalo and he played a whale of a game there until brought to Cleveland. Incidentally, Buffalo dropped from a pennant contender in the International League after Boudreau's departure.

Other developments since last season have given Cleveland fans and team members alike early flag fever.

By early January a complete head had been signed up for 1940 and although several veterans were not in the fold by then there was every indication that things were harmonious between the players and the front office.

Feller was one of the first to affix his signature to a contract which was reported to call for a $22,000 salary for the young star. The club's quest for a right-handed hitting outfielder ended when Roy (Beau) Bell was obtained from the Detroit Tigers in a straight trade for Bruce Campbell.

NEW GOLF PRO BEGINS JOB AT PICKAWAY CLUB

Bob Peebles, A Native Of Scotland, Brings Much Experience To City

Bob Peebles, a wee Scot and a golf instructor of wide reputation, has arrived in Circleville to take over direction of the Pickaway Country Club golf course during the next season...if the weather ever becomes suitable for golfing.

Peebles, born in Elie, Scotland, in the county of Fife, which is near St. Andrews, the recognized home of golf, has been a resident of the United States since 1901 and in all those years, and even while he was a resident of Scotland, the golf game was his business. He has held responsible positions at several outstanding Midwest courses and brings a wealth of golfing and golf teaching experience to Circleville.

He has been associated with the Louisville, Ky., Topeka, Kan., Dallas, Texas, Peoria, Ill., Greenville, O., East Potomac, Washington D. C., and Battle Creek, Mich., Country Clubs in his nearly 40 years in Uncle Sam's land.

He has taken part in 26 National Open tournaments, the last of which was at Fresh Meadows, L. I., in 1932. Numerous golf titles are among his possessions including the Texas Open, Kentucky and Alabama Opens and the Southwest Open. He won the Texas trophy five times.

To Bring Pros Here

Mr. Peebles numbers many of the Midwest's outstanding golf professionals among his personal friends, and he hopes that several times during the summer he will be able to provide professional matches for the entertainment of Circleville and Pickaway County golfers.

The new instructor is greatly impressed with the Pickaway Country Club course. He said: "The course is rolling enough and tricky enough to keep any golfer on his toes. However, it is not in the category of a tiring course, one that wears out a golfer before he is able to finish nine holes."

Incidentally, the Pickaway Club course was laid out by Charlie Lorms, Columbus Country Club pro, who is a personal friend of Peebles.

The new pro hopes to create more interest at the local club than has ever been evidenced before. "There'll be something doing all the time," he said, "to keep the club's member interested."

The Pickaway Country Club has become exceedingly popular with golfers from Chillicothe and Lancaster and Peebles hopes to keep this interest during the coming season. He plans to promote interclub matches with various Country Clubs and in his little red book of experience he has numerous special events arranged that should keep many persons at the Club throughout the summer.

Triumph Over Death

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Matthew 27:57-28:6

Early on the morning of Sunday, after the Jewish Sabbath, the two Marys, Mary Magdalene and the mother of James and Joseph, went to the tomb with spices to anoint the body of their Lord, but an earthquake had rolled away the stone, and an angel told them Jesus had risen.

The women "departed quickly from the sepulchre with fear and great joy; and did run to bring His disciples word," says Matthew. As they went, behold Jesus met them, saying "All Hail." And they came and held Him by the feet and worshipped Him.

The guards, having been rendered "as dead" by the earthquake, ran to the chief priests and told them, asking what they should do. They were given money and told to say the disciples had slept. (GOLDEN TEXT—I Cor. 15:20)

The Sepulcher: Triumph Over Death

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Newman Campbell
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for March 24 is Matthew 27:57-28:15, the Golden Text being I Corinthians 15:20, "Now hath Christ been raised from the dead, the first-fruits of them that are sleep.")

EVEN AFTER Jesus was crucified and put in the tomb, the high priests and Pharisees were not content. They must have known in their hearts that it was no ordinary man whom they had crucified. They came together before Pilate and asked him to see that they had an adequate guard set about Jesus' tomb, as "we remember the deceiver said, while He was yet alive. After three days I will rise again." Pilate evidently had but little patience with them, for he answered them shortly, "Ye have a watch; go your way, make it as sure as ye can."

So the tomb was sealed and the watch was set, but early Sunday morning, after the Jewish Sabbath, the two Marys came to the tomb with spices to anoint the body. They found that a great earthquake had opened the tomb, causing the guards to lie as dead men, and the Son of Man had risen, even as He had said. An angel, whose countenance was like lightning, and his garment white as snow, sat upon the stone that formed the tomb's door, and said to the startled women, "Fear not ye; for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here; for He is risen, as He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay. And go quickly and tell His disciples that He is risen from the dead; and behold, He goeth before you to Galilee; there shall ye see Him; lo, I have told you."

Run With Tidings
The women ran from the sepulchre with fear and great joy, to tell the disciples the joyful tidings. And as they went Jesus met them, saying "All Hail." And the happy women came and held Him by the feet and worshipped Him.

The soldiers on watch at the tomb, after they were recovered somewhat from their swoon into which the earthquake had thrown them, ran to the high priests and told them all that had happened. They must have been alarmed, and so they pushed the soldiers up by giving them large sums of money, and told them to say to anyone who inquired about the matter, "His disciples came by night, and stole Him away while we slept." Thus telling the men to lie to possibly save their own skins. If this affair comes to the governor's ears, they told the soldiers, we will persuade him it is all right and protect you.

The soldiers took the money and did as they were told. They must have been glad to get out of the matter so easily.

It would be interesting to know what became of the high priests, scribes and Pharisees. What are their individual lives after this event? Were they happy? Did they prosper, or were one and all haunted by this man whom they had so cruelly and vengefully killed and by the picture of Him standing so quietly before his judges and under the insults and blows of the crowd. Don't you suppose they had many fearful moments, especially after they were told by the soldiers of His resurrection?

Easter always is a joyous time. Even when it is an early Easter like the one this year, there is a promise of warmth in the air, with new life springing up in place of the old. On top of this is the assurance that our Lord is not dead. He is risen. No matter what discouragements the world is meeting at this time, we must have faith that out of all this tragedy and grief, too, the Lord will rise and make all the earth once more rejoice.

FROZEN SLEEP

NOT content with "freezing cancer victims to cure or alleviate their disease, scientists are now freezing drug addicts. The freezing is not complete, of course, but a reduction of bodily temperature to 90 degrees or less instead of the usual 98 degrees plus.

Such reduction of temperature has a most surprising effect. The patient falls into a very deep sleep, in which his mind appears to become completely blank. This condition is continued for three days, apparently without harmful effect. When he is awakened by being slowly warmed up to normal temperature, all his normal facilities return, but there is said to be no desire left for the accustomed drug.

This explanation is that such a drug addiction as "morphinism" appears to be not a physical condition but purely physical. That is, the mind and not the body is affected. Thus when the mind is made blank for a time, as in this refrigeration treatment, the mental desire for the drug disappears and the patient becomes normal.

This seems too good, and too easy, to be true. People naturally wonder how far such treatment can be extended, whether it will overcome all the usual drug addictions. Also, if abnormal cravings can be erased from the mind in this way, whether various other mental abnormalities can't be handled in the same way.

TRAINING CITIZENS

An educator, interested in training for democracy in the public schools, finds a good job being done in very few of them. Asked to define democracy, a large majority of high school students express only vague notions about it. The best answers, showing most understanding, come from the children of naturalized parents. Most of the children of "old stock" Americans who mention the "rights" and "privileges" of citizens in a democracy have nothing at all to say of "duties" or "responsibilities."

Let's not get too excited about these ignorant youngsters. Many oldsters would be hard put to it to define democracy promptly and clearly. They'd be likely to overlook civic responsibility and to stress only civil rights. And some of them today are dubious about the civil rights of people whose ideas they dislike.

The rise of totalitarian governments abroad may be credited with one good result if it leads us to a closer scrutiny of our own democracy, our theories about it and our practice of it. "When parents and teachers are clear about these things, the boys and girls will be."

We see by the foreign news that German Jews are to have religious freedom in Palestine, East Africa and Madagascar.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . . Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up hoping that the coal pile outlasts the Winter. Enroute to the furnace room did note a registration of 17 on the outside thermometer. Is this Spring? Noted in the morning prints that the belligerents in Europe continue their name-calling and sparring without any particular war damage as have grown to expect war damage.

Heard about the city woman who decided that she would like to raise a dozen chickens, so she took a dozen eggs out of the refrigerator and bought a sitting hen. Then, she asked a friend how soon eggs hatched and was informed that chickens hatch in 21 days, ducks require a few days more and geese hatch in four weeks. Later the friend saw the city woman and asked about her luck. "I waited 21 days," said the city woman and nothing happened. "I waited a few days more and nothing happened, and then I destroyed those eggs. I didn't want any geese."

Will Fitzpatrick's grand old dog, "Buddy," is dead at the age of 18. An extremely ripe old age for a dog and a lot of years in which the entire neighborhood came to know and like him. Buddy in his younger years when he required plenty of exercise ran in the same circle daily in the back yard until his course took on the appearance of a little race track. It was there for years. All dog owners join the Fitzpatricks in wishing Buddy happy times in the dogs' happy hunting grounds.

Someone asked what happens to the girl with cotton stockings and the answer, of course, is nothing. There goes Ham Rogers, who has just bought a farm, and here comes Fred Wittich, who has started off the fishing season by landing two and one-quarter pound bass in Yellowbird.

Wonder how many parents know that dope is being peddled

in the village and that dope peddlers are no respectors of age. As a matter of fact they prefer starting the youngsters on perdition's road. For years I have contended that the narcotics law is not sufficiently severe. I think that the peddler of dope in any form should be sent up for life, and I mean life. He is an accessory before the fact in many a theft and many a killing. He has damned the lives of millions and will damn the lives of millions more. Maybe your youngster will be on the list. Some local youngsters already smoke dope cigarettes. Federal agents have investigated locally and could get little information. Police are no more successful in their efforts. If those who really know something would talk to the authorities this practice of dope peddling could be broken up locally, but no one, it appears, cares to talk. I wish I had the real facts. Nothing would give me more pleasure than helping rid the community of the men and women who would send others to hell in order to pick up a few easy dollars for themselves.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

WHEELER LEFT UP IN THE AIR

WASHINGTON—Latest to try to smoke out Roosevelt on the third term was Senator Burt Wheeler, who harbors White House ambitions himself.

The Montanan made his cast during a conference with Roosevelt on the trade treaty issue. Wheeler explained that personally he has no objections to reciprocal trade, but that sentiment among Montana cattlemen and farmers is so strong he will have to fight it to be re-elected. Smiling broadly, the President said he understood.

Wheeler then turned the conversation to politics, intimating that he thought the time had come for Roosevelt to speak out about his plans. He owed it to the party, his friends, and to himself to say what was what. The President listened quietly and then with a grin said:

"Thanks for the advice, Burt. It's always helpful to receive good, constructive views."

NOTE—Wheeler is telling friends that inner circles have been secretly propositioning him to take a place on a "New Deal ticket", a statement which the New Dealers hotly deny. According to them, the President is dead set against Wheeler as one of the Democratic standard bearers.

CAPITAL CHAFF

One of the first lessons to be learned by a woman with social aspirations in Washington is the schedule of "at home" days. Prominent official wives set aside one day in the week to be at home to callers. Monday is "at home" day for wives of Supreme Court Justices; Tuesday, for wives of Congressmen; Wednesday, for Cabinet wives; Tuesday, for wives of Congressmen; Wednesday, for Cabinet wives; Thursday, for Senators' wives, and Friday for the wives of diplomats . . . According to Brazilian Ambassador Martins, the heroic resistance of the Finns to Russia was a triumph for coffee drinking. Finnish per capita consumption of coffee is much higher than that of the U. S. . . Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Adolf Berle have started what they call a "back to the chairs" movement, meaning that guests are actually invited to sit down. Secret of the movement is smaller parties. . . Seen on Massachusetts Avenue any bright morning—Secretary Morgenthau walking to work, leading on a leash his giant great Dane "Dano," who measures five feet from nose to tail and stands as high as a pony.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Inner circle master minds continue to make no progress persuading the President to revive the billion-dollar spend-lend bill turned down by Congress last summer.

With his ear attuned to the clamor for economy on Capitol Hill, Roosevelt has turned his advisers down. But the confidential economic analysis they have submitted to him is disquieting.

On the basis of their estimates, the Federal Reserve production index, which was around 125 in January and is now down to 105, will bog down to 80, or under, by July. This was the low point it reached in May, 1938, at the tail-end of the 1937 slump, and before the big spending program of that year started another upward spiral.

Cause of the current upset, according to government experts, is "inventory

DIET AND HEALTH

Curing Constipation With a Proper Diet

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE IDEAL thing for the treatment of constipation is to replace drugs or cathartics with diet. I believe that any human intestinal tract on earth, whether it is supposed to be constipated or not, will respond to a diet with a proper amount of bulk.

There is an old piece of nonsense in all the textbooks about the two varieties of constipation—spastic and astatic. I do not believe there is any such distinction. I believe they are all astatic and, therefore, they will all benefit from the same type of diet.

In general, the proper diet for constipation is one which has a considerable bulk in it. Those foods having a large proportion of indigestible residue which is not absorbed and remains inside the intestine.

testinal canal are best. The residue acts as a mild stimulant to the intestinal muscular movements.

Fruits Are Staples

Fruits are staples of anti-constipation diets. Not only do they have the large residue required, but their juices also have moderate cathartic properties, especially apples. At the Presbyterian Hospital, Chicago, when that great clinician was alive, applesauce used to be called "Dr. Sippy's cathartic." Molasses and honey have the same properties; so does ginger.

High residue diets are valuable for any case of constipation. For people with sedentary occupations, such as girls confined to study offices all day, sitting at a typewriter, they furnish a good antidote to the effects of their occupation. But for the "colitis" type of bowel they may be too irritating.

Such foods are as follows:

Soups—Stock soup with vegetables—Spinach, peas, beans, corn, cauliflower, cabbage, lettuce, tomatoes, celery, onions.

Cereals—Oats, mush, hominy grits. (Cooked cereals with bran.)

Breads—Bran, wholewheat, grain.

Fruits—Prunes, dates, figs, raisins, oranges, apples, berries with seeds, peaches, melons.

Fluids Suggested

Fluids—Water in abundance, weak coffee, new cider, unfermented grape juice, buttermilk.

Cake—Gingersnaps, gingerbread.

Desserts—Fruit ices, date or fig puddings, agar-agar gelatin.

Miscellaneous—Marmalade, honey, molasses in moderate amounts, popcorn.

THE KILLER SPEAKS

RICHARD HOUGHTON

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:
I, Bill Strickland, am suspected in the murder of my friend, Alfred Markham, rich young jeweler, a party at the Rose Vista Inn. I am a kidnapper an hour later but escape. Most of my friends believe the kidnaper to be the murderer, but George Louise, despite my protests, had ridden in the car with me, which probably discouraged any attack that might have been planned against me.

Luckily Captain McDonald himself was at the desk. His mouth dropped open in surprise.
"Strickland!"
When he said that the desk sergeant gaped. Several officers came out of the back room. Everyone knew that name now.

"Where have you been?"
I explained, as quickly as I could, and Louise added, "It's true, Captain, every word of it. Mr. Belzer of The Morning Eagle and I rescued him from the river. Mr. Belzer explained, I guess, when he brought you that note."

"Note! What note?"

I flushed. I saw her eyes darkening with anger. "So! It's still in his pocket, I suppose. I should have known better than to trust him."

"No harm done," I told her. "I really can't describe my kidnaper well enough to identify him. My story isn't of much help to the police." I decided to hold the threat note a while longer.

"That's what you think," said McDonald. "How long since you escaped?"

"Sixteen hours."

"Sixteen hours! My God!—ardon me, ma'am—where have you been?"

"Belzer called a doctor, who ordered me to keep quiet. I've been at the Markham house."

"Sounds like one of Belzer's tricks, all right. Well, too late now to stop his story. I suppose it's in type. The kidnaper will know we're on his trail. Come back to the club with me. We'll look for footprints—and there may be other clues—if he hasn't destroyed them by this time!"

George held his sister back. "We'll go home," he said, despite her protests. "That's no place for you."

Captain McDonald agreed. "There are too many reminders in that clubhouse garden. We'll report to you if we find anything definite."

"Thanks. We'll appreciate it."

The brother and sister withdrew, after I had thanked Louise again. Captain McDonald and I climbed into his car, accompanied by two detectives with cameras and other equipment. There was no newspaper photographer or reporter, however. I had seen no newspaper men at the station in the few minutes we'd been there, so I knew that Belzer's "exclusive" story was safe. No other paper would get it before press time. To be certain there'd be no new developments before then, I'd say nothing about the threat note for another hour.

As we rolled toward the northern outskirts of the city, where the club was located, Captain McDonald told me, "I never had any serious suspicion of you, Strickland. That was why I tried to cover up that bad break you made about it."

We passed through the silent, deserted parlor and hall. Instinctively I walked on tiptoe into the heavy carpeted rooms. Through the glass doors, which opened with an inside latch, we stepped into the rear court. The detectives followed.

"Too dark," said the captain.

It was easy to see where I had stepped through the thick grass near the rose arbor, "Here," I said. "I know I dropped the knife by this white rock."

He nodded. "Exactly where we found it. No one else had touched it. Now, which way did you go from here to where you were hit over the head by this mysterious boatman?" The captain was chewing his cigar excitedly.

I pointed, and he led the way to the spot. There were plenty of signs in the wet sand to indicate a scuffle had taken place.

"I know his theory won't work. You and Markham were friends. There was no blood on your knife. You were upstairs when it happened. I'm convinced, Strickland. Silver will agree, when he hears what you've told me tonight."

"What's your theory?" I asked. "It's not safe to have a theory yet. I'm fairly sure the crime was planned a long way in advance. There's hardly a clue. It's almost perfect."

Red Noses May Be Part Of The Easter Parade

Weatherman, Though, May Observe Day With Surprise

By Lyall Cryder

With no hint of cooperation from the weatherman, Easter outfit will be worn this year with undesired accessories in the form of red noses and acute shivers!—For worn they will be, after the expending of time and energy of many days in their choice, to say nothing of the wads of folding money.

The final insult for the Easter parade would be for the half promised snow to fall on these dainty garments.

One of the wonders of the world to me is the faith and hope expended each year in the acquisition of Easter togs, no previous "dampening" experience ever carrying enough weight to stop the fair ones in their frenzied search for something new and different. In this regard, let me whisper a little secret, if it is too new and too different, you should see them fight shy. That really was the origin of shopping, the necessity for looking over new styles until you could convince yourself you were not insane.

In making purchases this year, the shopper was not constrained in choice of styles, for they were many and mostly weird.

Our lady could step out to church on Easter, and who would miss this important service, as a Gibson Girl, correct in gored skirt, sailor hat, and shirt waist—pardon me—"blouse". (That "shirt waist" slip surely dates you.)

If sweet, simple and dainty was her style, tiny flower hats could perch over one eye, and lovely flowers like frocks in pastel shades were immediately available.

The "tailored maid" had the smartest of suits to choose from with sharp color contrasts in shoes, hats, gloves and purse to lift her outfit into the ultra style expressing her individuality.

If the need for a coat was indicated, there are closely fitted military styles and smart swaggers of all lengths and materials in tones to rival Joseph's coat of many colors.

She could be suave in sophisticated black, brilliant in red, gay in tweed or still be up-to-the-minute in every combination of material and color that she might choose to express her own style ideas.

There is an old expression, "she must be looking for a man", which frequently slips out when a lovely lady puts her best foot forward and steps out in a complete outfit of modern garments. Just a little quiet observation will convince you that that is not true, for what man could ever take in the many details that have gone to make up the perfect whole. The ladies, bless them, dress with the idea of putting out the eyes of their own kind as they,

from their own wild search for beauty, are the only ones qualified to be judges of perfect effects.

As I said before, many and varied are the styles this year. Even mother with her recourse to the accumulated garments of many years may at last be fashionable, for it would be unthinkable for her to have an all new outfit. Just by roving around the attic, selecting a hat from one box, a frock of any color from another, and the more color the better, choosing a coat from the vintage of long ago, having all freshly cleaned and there she is, for once the quintessence of fashion!

One thing only is necessary to make her outfit complete, to say nothing of her joy, and it must be new and up-to-the-minute! Just furnish her with a shoulder corsage, and for goodness sake do not make it "suitable to her age" and watch her step out with the best of them on Easter Day.

It has been nice to talk of styles, it has even taken my mind off the weather threat. Who knows but that it might possibly influence the weatherman to be kind?

If he should not be, there is always a chance of borrowing Juniors' discarded winter earbuds to wear with the Easter bonnet and snap on a set of longies under the frocks.

VOX POP

To the editor of the Circleville Herald:

Kindly permit me enough space to present my views on one of the current topics, namely relief.

I do not think that relief should ever be considered as a political problem rather in my opinion it is a social one. While no one can deny the fact that many honest and good citizens sometimes or other may have to seek aid from some county or township relief fund the fact remains that most of those that are continually asking for help are chronic. I do not and am not trying to cast any reflections on our relief office in Pickaway County, yet from experience it seems to me that at times people are encouraged rather than discouraged to stay on relief.

I wonder how many times other people have similar experiences like mine. Having to hire help I have found that quite a few would rather get a grocery order from the county than try and do an honest day's work to earn the same.

About a year ago I had working for me a man who quit under the pretense of being sick and was on relief for about six months. At the end of that time he came back to work yet the days that the case investigator was to come to his home he would always say he was sick so that he could be there when she came. This was a Fairfield County problem instead of ours. I reported the facts to them, however, he was still aided and in my opinion induced to stay on relief when he was about as able bodied as hundreds of others who were and are working.

I do not want to be misunderstood and I realize that there are thousands of our honest and upright citizens out of work and that there should be some means of providing work for the same.

In my humble opinion the right way to handle relief is to put it back in the hands of the local political sub-divisions and provide funds for its administration and at the same time divorce it forever from politics which ever party may be in power. It seems only good sense and judgement to me that local officials could determine more accurately and justly who is and who is not entitled to relief and to what extent. Put the relief question back in the hands of the townships and provide funds for its honest and impartial administration and I will wager that there will not be such a big relief problem as some would have you believe. It is only common sense that one would know what his own family needed or his own farm more than some one in the county seat or some one in Washington, D. C. So once again I say quit making a big gaboo about relief—put it back where it was before it became a problem and then as a nightmare it will vanish into thin air and we will not hear much about it.

Key signs of this depressive trend are: (1) the heavy drop in steel production, off 30 percent in February and in many steel plants already under 50 percent of capacity; (2) an equally marked curtailment in textiles; and (3) a sharp slowing down in the durable goods industries. Also the construction business, which enjoyed a bright boom last year, is back in the doldrums.

ROOT CAUSE

Root cause of the present situation, the experts told Roosevelt, goes back to the flush 1936-37 period when manufacturers "over-produced." The huge inventories built up then were only partially liquidated in the 1938 pick-up, and when the factories, under the war stimulation of last fall, got into high gear again inventories shot back up to peak heights.

Had the hoped-for rush war orders materialized, this condition would have been remedied. But the orders, except in a few lines, such as airplanes, didn't show up and plants, with great stocks on their hands and no encouraging backlog of business, have begun to make heavy curtailments in production.

COMING SLUMP

Basis of the experts' forecast that the Federal Reserve index will sag to 80 by July is that there are no important factors on the horizon to halt the tailspin. They concede that exports, totaling $3,100,000,000 last year, will rise this year. Their estimates range from $700,000,000 to $1,500,000,000. But they contend that even if the maximum is reached, this will not be enough to offset the inventory liquidation which will run at around $4,000,000 for 1940.

In other words, even should the pace of war orders accelerate, it would not be sufficient to induce a return to high production for many months to come.

Roosevelt's economists also point out that whatever war orders do materialize will be limited to a few specialties—aircraft, chemicals, machinery, cotton—all with a relatively small employment range. They will net large profits but won't give "high consumption spending power."

This is where the New Dealers argue hardest for a new government spending program. They contend that only by spreading money out widely, through farm benefits, WPA and PWA, can the slack be taken up.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Genial Lawrence Camp, U. S. Attorney for northern Georgia, who carried the torch for the New Deal in 1938 against Senator Walter George, soon will be rewarded with a judgeship on either the Customs Court or the federal bench. Camp wants the latter but probably will get the former. Representative John Jennings is one Republican who is anti-Dewey and makes no bones about it. Asked his opinion of the young New Yorker as a presidential candidate, the homespun Tennessee drawled, "A man doesn't make good gravy unless it's aged a lot." . . . Victorious anti-Long forces in Louisiana are whetting their axes for Long followers in Congress—with one exception, Representative Paul Maloney. Popular and liberal, he was the only Longite on Capitol Hill who had the sportsmanship to congratulate Governor-elect Sam Jones and to urge public cooperation in his clean-up program.

After a lapse of five years the Ohio State Alumni Association began to function again in Circleville Friday night. The organization was perfected over scarlet and gray decorated tables in the American Hotel's Hurricane where 62 members of the alumni gathered.

The reorganization got under way when Byron Eby, chairman of the meeting, appointed Judge Meeker Terwilliger, Dr. Edward Montgomery and Mrs. Sarah Pugsley as a nominating committee to submit the names of candidates for offices. Selections of the committee were accepted unanimously by the group. J. Ray Henry, president; David Harmon, vice president; Charlotte Moore, secretary; Dr. Charles Watts, treasurer, were the elected officers.

HOLLYWOOD'S PRETTIEST WEDS YOUNG SPORTSMAN

HOLLYWOOD, March 23—Lin Howard, wealthy young sportsman, and Judith Barrett, pretty contract player at Paramount studios, were honeymooning today after a surprise flight to Yuma, Ariz., yesterday where they were married by Justice Ed Winn.

Lin is the son of Charles Howard, owner of the noted race horse, Seabiscuit, and is himself the owner of Ligatior and other thoroughbreds which he races in conjunction with Crooner Bing Crosby, under the name of the Binglin stables.

Often called the prettiest girl in Hollywood, Judith, whose real name is Lucille Kelly, was once married to Cliff Edwards, ukulele player and movie actor. It was while she was Edwards' bride that she took the name of Nancy Dover for movies, later changing to Judith Barrett. Howard was divorced last year from Mrs. Anita Howard, well known socialite.

JOHN L. CARMEAN, AWAITING WIFE, DIES IN AUTO

CHILlicothe, March 23—While his wife was shopping across the street, John L. Carmean, 45, foreman in the coating department of the Mead Corporation, who was sitting in his car parked in front of the Court House, died.

Returning a few minutes later, Mrs. Carmean found her husband's body slumped in the car.

Mr. Carmean, a native of Kinnekinnick, Ross County, served with the Rainbow Division during the World War. He was a member of the Ross County Post of the American Legion and the Foremen's Club of the Mead Corporation.

The widowed Mrs. Carmean is the former Bessie Roby of Kings-ton.

He is survived also by his father and four brothers.

HILLICOHEANS TO ASK FOR LIGHT RATE SLASH

CHILlicothe, March 23—City officials are speculating on the possibility of a rate reduction as the result of a "rate-adjustment clause" in the city's light contract with the Columbus and Southern Electric Company since the company in its annual report shows the greatest profit in the history of the contract between the company and the city.

The domestic and commercial lighting ordinance which became effective in January, 1939, and which includes the rate adjustment clause, calls for the increase and decrease in rates in the event of certain fluctuations in unit costs for any six month period.

According to the ordinance, the company must file a statement with the city auditor if a fluctuation is decisive enough to effect a rate change. Such a statement has not been filed with him, Ira Korst, city auditor, reported. He said that he will suggest that the public utility committee of the city council institute an investigation.

French Newspapers Rally To Support Reynaud After Narrow Vote

The moderate newspaper Figaro went far editorially to demand suppression of the public from parliamentary meetings in time of war because "these debates, where intellectual poverty vie with incoherence, are imperiling democracy."

Furthermore, the newspaper added, the clearest warnings are being sounded of impending events in southeastern Europe. Therefore, "there is an increasing need for a show of strength" in France, Figaro declared.

Pertinax, French foreign affairs commentator, openly demanded more support for Reynaud, saying: "If Reynaud and his colleagues had had weakness last night the impression would have prevailed that France was ripe for a white peace."

Berlin and London were comparatively quiet, but the capitals of neutral nations buzzed with many alarming reports.

Amsterdam said Chancellor Hitler plans to announce a spectacular diplomatic victory during the Easter season. The speculation centers largely around the possible conclusion of a Russo-German-Italian pact bringing all three into a state of military cooperation.

Helsinki sadly revealed that Finland has given up the Hangon Peninsula to Soviet Russia for use as a naval and air base. There were also increased rumors of a reshuffling in the Finnish government.

A British submarine attack on a German ore ship, carrying a cargo from Narvik, Norway, to German ports, was the main subject of conversation in London. Torpedoing of the Nazi vessel in the dangerous waters of the Skagerak, near Denmark, was seen as the opening gun in a British drive to cut German iron ore shipping travelling to and from the northern countries.

MILLIONS PRAY FOR PEACE

While the chancelleries of Europe thus grappled with war, millions throughout the world prayed for peace on Easter Sunday eve. Pealing church bells from Jerusalem to Alaska rang out the same earnest appeal... peace!

WASHINGTON, March 23—Now that Postmaster General Farley has thrown his hat into the presidential ring he should resign as chairman of the Democratic national committee, Senator Van Nuys (D) Ind., asserted today.

Although backing Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt for the presidential nomination, Van Nuys said he was "very fond of Jim," adding:

"I could support Jim as a nominee very gladly but I do not think it is fair to the other candidates that he retain his position as national chairman, capitalizing on the prestige which that office entails."

HILLICOHEANS TO ASK FOR LIGHT RATE SLASH

CHILlicothe, March 23—City officials are speculating on the possibility of a rate reduction as the result of a "rate-adjustment clause" in the city's light contract with the Columbus and Southern Electric Company since the company in its annual report shows the greatest profit in the history of the contract between the company and the city.

The domestic and commercial lighting ordinance which became effective in January, 1939, and which includes the rate adjustment clause, calls for the increase and decrease in rates in the event of certain fluctuations in unit costs for any six month period.

According to the ordinance, the company must file a statement with the city auditor if a fluctuation is decisive enough to effect a rate change. Such a statement has not been filed with him, Ira Korst, city auditor, reported. He said that he will suggest that the public utility committee of the city council institute an investigation.

THE GARDEN CLINIC

By VICTOR H. RIES,
O. S. U. floriculturist

QUESTION: Can you suggest a shrub for a northern exposure where the wind is always blowing around the corner? I would like to use this shrub as a windbreak for my Christmas rose.

ANSWER: There are several shrubs that would be very satisfactory under these conditions, including the wayfaring-tree (Viburnum lantana), the arrowwood (Viburnum dentatum), the Iota privet, or Ligustrum maackii.

QUESTION: What kind of a flowering tree can I plant in the section between the sidewalk and the street?

ANSWER: I would not recommend any flowering tree for such a situation. The street trees along any one block and preferably along the entire street should be of one kind, one of the better shade trees which would include the red oak, pin oak, Norway maple, sugar maple, thornless honeylocust, ginkgo, and tulip-tree. Of course, the honeylocust and tulip-tree do have conspicuous flowers. The practice followed by many people in planting trees such as flowering crab, flowering cherries, mountain ash, in the area between the sidewalk and the street is not to be recommended; first because they are not shade trees; second because most of them are too low headed and consequently interfere with both auto and pedestrian traffic; and third, because of the tendency of every property owner to have something different.

QUESTION: Is the scarlet hawthorn better than the Washington hawthorn for a foundation planting shrub?

ANSWER: By the scarlet hawthorn I take it you mean Paul's scarlet thorn which is a tree, as is the Washington thorn. Consequently, except for a taller accent possibly at the corner of the house or a big bare space between windows at the side of the house, you would not have any use for these plants in the foundation planting. They are both excellent flowering trees, having good foliage and nice bloom. The Washington thorn has the added advantage of a red fruit which stays on throughout the winter.

QUESTION: What is the matter with my tree peony? It forms buds but they dry up and drop off.

ANSWER: Although it is impossible to say without seeing the plant, I am inclined to believe that it is infected with peony blight which is quite common on ordinary peonies. This causes the buds to blacken and dry up. If the condition is similar to this, I would suggest that any dead leaves be raked up and burned and that the crown around the peony plant and the wood itself be sprinkled rather than sprayed with some copper spray such as bordeaux or copocil.

QUESTION: What comprehensive books on gardening and landscape gardening do you suggest for a beginner?

ANSWER: For general gardening I would recommend America's Garden Book by Bush Brown; Gardening by Montague Free; and the Complete Book of Gardening by Leonard Baron. For books on landscape gardening, I would recommend The Art of Home Landscape by M. E. Bottomley; Planning and Planting the Home Garden by Pauline Murray. For those interested, we have a rather complete classified book list which we will be glad to send upon request.

QUESTION: What are the best bushes for dry ground? I would prefer those which have winter fruit.

ANSWER: When you start growing shrubs under adverse conditions such as heavy shade or unusually dry ground, you very often find you have to give up profuse blooming fruit. Some of the shrubs that will withstand the dry conditions are the various forms of tamarisk, five-leaf aralia, the privets including Iota and Regel, the Morrow honeysuckle, tatarian honeysuckle, and the buffalo berry, Shepherdia.
